

Dear Friends and Family,

I hope summer has been going well for all of you! This summer I have been very busy serving at Camp Daniel as a counselor and worker. Despite some challenges, I have learned so much from watching the people around me. My campers have been the greatest blessing to me because they've shown me the deepest love I've experienced in a long time. I've witnessed the most beautiful and heart-felt worship in Chapel. Camp Daniel is a place where everyone can be real and vulnerable because they are loved and accepted no matter what. This place where friends have become family, where everyone is treasured, and where I've grown the most will be my home for the next year. I'm super excited to be a year-long intern beginning August 28!

From a semester at Concordia, to a shortened missions venture to Italy and then living at home, there have been many changes for me in the last year. I had made plans to attend Moody Bible Institute but then I found out that Camp Daniel was wanting a year-long intern. So after many long talks with close friends and much prayer, I believed God was calling me to serve at Camp Daniel and decided to become an intern! I will still be taking a couple classes online through Moody as well.

As an intern, I will help lead Special Olympics including bowling and basketball, host guest groups, help run Weekend Getaways and summer camps, care for the Camp buildings, and help lead The Hub Student Ministry and The Mix Community. I'm looking forward to planning and leading camp programs that develop social, emotional, and spiritual growth for people with disabilities. I'm hoping to gain new skills and experiences that can be applied to both current and future ministry. I believe this experience will increase my love for all people despite apparent differences and learn more about how people with disabilities make me more like Jesus. I want to be a blessing to the campers, volunteers, and staff in this coming year and be open to what God wants to teach me through others. In the words of one of the counselor's, "Our campers are our teachers, and we are the students." I love Camp Daniel because I've learned to value and love all people at this place where a diverse array of people are bonded through Jesus' love.

Camp Daniel is a Christian organization that provides people with disabilities year-round opportunities for personal, social, and spiritual growth. All of the Camp Daniel staff are missionaries to people with disabilities, and as an intern I will also be a missionary which means I need to raise monthly support to cover my living expenses. I am trusting the Lord to provide me with the people to financially and spiritually support me. I ask for your financial support whether that be $10, $20, $50, or $100 a month. One-time donations are also greatly appreciated.

I greatly appreciate your prayers and support as I begin this new adventure. I look forward to sharing with you about this experience. Feel free to reach me at 715-701-6363 or eva@campdaniel.org if you have any questions. God bless you!

Sincerely,
Eva Allard
